

Who thought "Mad Men" would EVER be boring?

Written by By TERRY MATHEWS, News-Telegram Arts Editor
Sunday, 01 August 2010 21:15

Never thought I'd post this: I was bored with tonight's episode of "Mad Men."

Everything was so predictable.

Old clashes with new over the Pond's Cold Cream account.

Juvenile pranks to get back at one's parents.

Pretending to be chaste and pure in order to "get a guy."

The office Christmas party - and all the cliches that come with it.

A sadistic client who knows he has the agency on the ropes.

The boss' fling with yet another doe-eyed secretary.

The holiday blues.

Yawn.

The writers are so much better than this.

Who thought "Mad Men" would EVER be boring?

Written by By TERRY MATHEWS, News-Telegram Arts Editor
Sunday, 01 August 2010 21:15

So, did anyone watch the first two episodes of "Rubicon"?