DSO Pops Series concert Feb. 6, 7 & 9 also features debut of new Assistant Conductor Karina Canellakis

DALLAS – The Dallas Symphony Orchestra welcomes Tony® Award-winning superstar Bernadette Peters to the Meyerson Symphony Center at 8 p.m. on Feb. 6, 7 and 9. The stunning star of stage and screen will showcase the best of Broadway's stage, including popular standards and hits by Rodgers & Hammerstein, Stephen Sondheim and others set to the fabulous sounds of the Dallas Symphony.

The DSO Pops Series concert will also feature the Dallas debut of conductor Karina Canellakis, who in September 2014 will begin her tenure as the DSO's new Assistant Conductor. The American-born, Juilliard-trained Canellakis will open the program with the popular Overture to Die Fledermaus by Johann Strauss II, Rossini's famous William Tell Overture and the Overture to West Side Story by Bernstein.

On the second half, the Dallas Symphony and conductor Marvin Laird perform with Bernadette Peters in a celebration of American song and musical showstoppers highlighting her stellar, four decades-long, Tony® and Grammy® Award-winning career.

Tickets are currently $29-$136. Tickets can be purchased at www.DallasSymphony.com or by calling 214-692- 0203.
