Lizzie Sider, a 15-year-old country music artist, visits Douglas Intermediate School to sing, discuss and tell her own experiences about bullying in a bully prevention assembly Thursday morning. Sider has visited more than 200 schools in Texas, California and Florida since October with her anti-bullying assemblies at no cost to the school districts. Douglas students also created a poster which focused on Sider's message "Nobody has the power to ruin your day." For more information visit www.LizzieSider.com. Staff Photo Jon Lance
